PREFACE.

1590266

For nearly six centuries in England the Peerage and Baronage and the Landed Gentry contain an adequate account of the pedigree of all families in the enjoyment of hereditary titles and large landed possessions. The nobility and gentry of the three Kingdoms are however by no means confined to these classes, but include many other families of equal position, descent and influence, for a gentleman derives his nobility from his ancestors and not from the mere possession of land or titles. The law of primogeniture has long since ceased to operate in the law of nobility and gentry.

The history of the noble and gentry of the three Kingdoms is a history of the history of the noble and gentry of the three Kingdoms. Many a noble and gentry in his own country, would be astonished to find that his less distinguished neighbour was of a nobility as ancient as his own. The position of these noble houses has been still further obscured by the acquisition of hereditary titles by those who have risen from humble rank to wealth and honours.

Many families, too, have stumbled themselves by their great services to the Crown and country, in the Church, the Army, the Navy and the legal profession. Not in prosperous England can we leave out of account those families founded by merchant princes in this country, as of old in Venice, whose alliances make them as near akin to our ancient nobility.

The records of these families are, as a rule, inaccessible to the student, and are scattered in the most distant volumes of county histories, in privately printed pamphlets, in scattered parish registers, or in the manuscript pedigrees at the College of Arms. To collect and arrange them for any reference is the present design of the editor, who hopes that the work, when completed, will form a valuable supplement to the Peerage and Baronage and the Landed Gentry.

PREFACE.

FEW words are necessary to explain the scope and object of this volume. The Peerage and Baronetage and the Landed Gentry contain an adequate account of the pedigrees of all families in the enjoyment of hereditary titles and large landed possessions. The nobility and gentry of the three Kingdoms are however by no means confined to these classes, but include many other families of equal position, descent and alliance, for a gentleman derives his nobility from his ancestors and not from the mere possession of lands or titles. The law of primogeniture has kept titles and great estates in the hands of a few, and has established a barrier of separation between the eldest branches and the cadet lines of noble families. This has been increased by the lapse of years till only tradition preserves the memory of their descent from a common ancestry. Many a noble lord, paramount in his own county, would be astonished to find that his less distinguished neighbour was of a nobility as ancient as his own. The position of these cadet houses has been still further obscured by the acquisition of lands and titles by those who have risen from humble rank to wealth and honour.

Many families, too, have ennobled themselves by their great services to the Crown and country, in the Church, the Army, the Navy and the legal profession. Nor in prosperous England can we leave out of account those families, founded by merchant princes in this country, as of old in Venice, whose alliances make them so near akin to our ancient nobility.

The records of these families are, as a rule, inaccessible to the student, and are buried out of sight in the ponderous volumes of county histories, in privately printed pamphlets, in scattered parish registers, or in the manuscript pedigrees at the College of Arms. To collect and arrange them for easy reference is the present design of the editor, who hopes that the work, when completed, may form a valuable supplement to the Peerage and Baronetage and the Landed Gentry.

A right to bear arms is the true criterion of nobility, and thus Heraldry is an indispensable auxiliary to the genealogist. It is pleasant to note a distinct revival of interest in that quaint science of late, which elucidates for us so many obscure passages in family history. Armorial bearings have been aptly termed, by a learned writer, cryptic forms of genealogical record, and the study of these, once part of the education of every gentleman, deserves a better fate than to be left to the tender mercies of the stationer and the carriage painter. Unfortunately, negligence and ignorance of the laws of arms, and the ridiculous and impudent assumption by so many families of the heraldic emblems of others, have made it impossible to rely on the pretensions that are loudly proclaimed by their display. For this reason, drawings of those arms only, for which clear official authority is forthcoming, have been inserted in these pages.

It will be unnecessary to dwell on the plan of this work, which follows closely that adopted with success in the companion volumes. An index of the pedigrees and alliances has been added, and will no doubt be found useful.

To all my correspondents, heraldic and genealogical, my grateful acknowledgments are due for the able assistance they have given me which has so materially enhanced the value of this work.

FAMILY RECORDS.

AIREY.

Lineage.—This family claims to be of Norwegian origin and derives its name from Ari or Ara, a personal name among the Scandinavian nations. They probably settled in Westmorland between the years 945 and 1000, when a body of Northmen, who had taken possession of the Isle of Man, made a descent upon the opposite coast and colonized Cumberland and Westmorland. The Ayrays had very early possession of lands in Kentmore, of which place in 1350, THOMAS AYRAIE was bailiff. His dau. m. William Gilpin, of Kentmore Hall, and there were several subsequent intermarriages between the two families. BARCLAY-ALLARDICE.

Lineage.—Nisbet, in his System of Heraldry, says:—"Alsyndure de Allardyss, i.e., Allardyce of that ilk, an ancient family in the shire of Kincardine. They got a charter of the lands of Alrethes from King William since called Allardyce from whence is the surname; from this time there is a series of writs in the hands of the laird of Allardyce. He is the heir of line of the Earls of Airth and Monteith." The claim of the family to the ancient earldoms of Strathearn, Menteith and Airth, has been on several occasions before the House of Lords, but no decision has as yet been arrived at. The lineage of the Stuarts will be found under that name. Thomas Allardis, of that ilk, was witness to a charter of Bishop Henry (Cheynes) circa A.D. 1294. Alisaundre de Allerdash did homage to King Edward, Aug. 1296. Walterus de Allardas took the oath of homage to King Edward, March. 1297. Waltero de Allyrdas was indemnified for destruction of corn and cattle at the siege of Dunnottar in 1337. Thome de Allirdas received a payment from the Crown, 1364, and 6 April, 1369, had an annual of 20s. out of Little Barras. "Johannes de Allyrdas dominus ejusdem" granted a charter to "Johanni dicto Harmer" of all his lands of Ardgrane, dated at Aberdeen, 1 Sept. 1376.

JOHN ALLARDICE, of that ilk, "miles," m. before 15 Dec. 1426, as appears by a charter under the great seal of that date, and had by Margaret, his wife, (with two younger sons, Hugh and David, shieldbearer to the Duke of Albany, 1413), an eldest son, who d.s.p. leaving a son, THOMAS, who s. his grandfather before 1457. BICKERSTETH.

Lineage.—This family as far back as the early part of the twelfth century was seated at Bickerstaffe* in Lancashire, and held a conspicuous place in that county.

ADAM DE BIKERSTAT m. a dau. of Simon Molineux, and is recorded to have given four acres of land to the newly-founded Abbey of Cokersand. His son, RADULPHUS DOMINUS DE BYKYRSTATH was a still more liberal benefactor to the Church, and besides gifts of land in Helmes and Stotfaldechage to the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem, he granted to the Priory of Burscough, by two separate charters, certain lands, and extensive rights of pasturage "cum omnibus aliis asiamentis villæ de Bykyrstath pertinentibus." His son,

ADAM DE BIKERSTAT, "with the consent of Amicia, his wife, and his heirs," made a further grant of land to the Abbey of Cocker-and. His son,

RICARDUS DE BIKERSTAT, otherwise BYKERSTAFFE, was one of the Tenants in capite enumerated in the Testa de Neville, temp. HENR. III and EDW. I. His son,

ADAM DE BIKERSTAT, confirmed all the grants made by his ancestors and was s. by his son,

SIR RALPH (or Rauf) DE BIKERSTAT, otherwise BICKERSTATH or BICKERSTAFFE, was High Sheriff of Lancashire in 1308, 1311 and 1314. He joined the Barons' party headed by Thomas of Lancaster, and was one of the five hundred lords and knights who, in 1313, received the king's pardon for the events which had culminated in the capture and death of Piers Gaveston. He was elected a Knight of the Shire for Lancashire and with Sir William de Slene represented the county in Parliament at Westminster 8-27 July, 1313. His son, ADAM DE BECKERSTATH OR BICKERSTAFFE, left by John, his wife, an only dau. and heir, who m. Nicholas Atherton, second son of Sir William Atherton, of Atherton. By this marriage the manor of Bickerstaffe passed first into the Atherton family and eventually to Margaret, dau. and heir of Thomas Atherton, of Bickerstaffe. She m. James Scarisbrick, and left an only dau. and heir, Elizabeth. m. 1518, Peter Stanley, through whom the manor has descended to the present Earl of Derby. The male line of the Bickerstaffe family continued to reside in the neighbourhood, and the name frequently appears in commissions of importance and in deeds, charters, grants, etc. After the dissolution of the chantries in 1533, THOMAS BICKSTATH was one of those who purchased chantry lands in Bickerstaffe, and henceforward the notices of the family again become frequent, the principal line being apparently settled in Aughton, the adjoining township to Bickerstaffe in the parish of Ormskirk. The marriage of Roger Bickerstaffe to Ellen Cartwright in 1545 and of Hugh Bycarstaffe to Elizabeth Burie in 1561 are amongst the earliest recorded in the Aughton and Ormskirk parish registers.

* The place is also spelt Bickerstath, Bickersteth, etc., in early records.

BLAKE.

Lineage.—In the sixth year of the reign of King EDWARD I, A.D. 1277, the castle and lands of Kiltorroge, and the castle and four quarters of Ballim'croe (now Carnmore) situate in the barony of Dunkellin, in co. Galway, were granted to RICHARD CADDELL, called Niger or Blake, the common ancestor of all the families of Blake in Connaught. He was Portreeve of the town of Galway in 1290, and again in 1312 and sheriff of Connaught in 1302-1306 (31 EDWARD I). In 1315 he obtained a grant from Thomas de Hobrigge of the manor and lands of Kiltollagh, near the town of Galway. He m. Eveline Lynch, and by her had, with possibly other issue, four sons,

i. WALTER, of whom presently.

II. John, of Athenry, m. Joanna Godson, and had two sons, William and Edmund, whose will was proved at Athenry, 16 Oct. 1420.

III. Nicholas.

IV. Valentine.

The eldest son,

WALTER BLAKE, Burgess of Galway, got a grant of the customs of Galway, 3 Dec. 1346. He made his will, March, 1357 (31 EDWARD III), granting all his lands to his eldest son, Henry. He left issue at least five sons,

I. Henry (senior), Burgess of Galway, got a lease, 4 Feb. 1383, for twenty years of the tithes of Doflyche, near Galway, from Dermot O'Connor Abbott, of Knockmoy (Collis, Victoria). He was indicted for high treason for joining in the rebellion of Sir William (or Ulick) de Burgh, in 1388, but received pardon for this on returning to the King's allegiance in 1390. His will is dated 1421 (9 HENRY V), and by it he devises all his lands to his nephew, William Blake (son of his brother, Geoffrey Blake) and his heirs, with remainders to his other nephews,

Walter (Oge) Blake (second son of his brother, John Oge Blake), and Henry Blake (son of his brother, Thomas (Niger) Blake). He left issue, Silly (Cille or Gylle), who on the 6th Oct. 1438 (17 HENRY VI), as dau. and heir of Henry Blake, deceased, granted by deed to her cousin-german, Henry Blake, son and heir of John (Oge) Blake, Burgess of Athenry, all the messuages, lands and tenements that descended or might in future descend to her as heir of her father. In 1435, this Silly Blake, joined with her cousins, Henry Blake, jun. (son of John oge Blake), Walter oge Blake, William (fitz Geoffrey) Blake, and Henry (fitz Thomas Niger) Blake, in making a perpetual grant to the parish church of St. Nicholas, in Galway.

II. JOHN (oge), of whom presently.

III. Geoffrey, who left two sons,

I. William, Burgess of Galway, mentioned above as devisee of Henry Blake, sen., in the latter's will, 1421, and in the grant made in 1435, to the church of St. Nicholas. In 1424 an award was made between him and his cousins Henry Fitz John Oge Blake and Silly Blake, and in 1445, another award was made between him and Henry (fitz John oge Blake), and his son John (fitz Henry) Blake, to settle disputes between them as to the division of lands of Henry Blake (sen.). He, with his three sons, granted by deed, 25 Oct. 1453, to John Blake fitz Walter certain lands near Athenry. His three sons,

(1) John, Mayor of Galway, 1488, as appears by a deed of agreement made in this year between him, William de Burgo and Dominick Lynch (fitz John). He was appointed one of the executors of the will of John Blake (fitz Henry), dated 1468, and is also mentioned in the will of John Lynch (fitz John), dated 17 Aug. 1496, proved 5 April, 1498. He left issue four sons,

a. Geoffrey, probably bailiff of Galway in 1486. He left issue, a son, Richard, Mayor of Galway, 1533, who had various disputes as to his title to the lands of Kiltollagh, etc., inherited by him from his ancestor William, as devisee of Henry Blake (fitz Walter), as is mentioned in a decree of the Irish Court of Chancery, temp. HENRY VIII, circa 1536, and in an award of 1542, made between him and Nicholas Blake fitz John. He, with his son and heir, John, by deed, dated 3 March, 1558, confirmed his ancestors' gifts to the church of St. Nicholas. He appears to have d. in 1564, as in the following year his name disappears from the list of Masters or ex-Mayors in which it had appeared from 1534 to 1564 (both inclusive). He had issue, three sons,

(a) Geoffrey, d. young. v.p.

(b) John, Mayor of Galway 1578. On 6 March, 1571, a decree was made by the Lord President and council of Connaught on the complaint of this John Blake (fitz Richard) and of John Blake (fitz Nicholas), by which it was declared that the lands of Kiltollagh, etc., were free from all composition charges. John Blake (fitz Richard) m. Julia Browne, and d. about 1586, having by her (who m. 2ndly, Anthony Kirwan) had issue, two sons, Arthur and Walter, the latter of whom was one of the parties to the decree of 1616 (see p. 78), by which the decree of 1571 was ratified and confirmed.

(c) Martin.

b. Walter, Bishop of Clonmacnois, who was appointed in 1506 by King HENRY VII. to the Archbishopric of Tuam, but this translation was not sanctioned by the Pope.

c. Andrew, who had three sons,

(a) The eldest son was ancestor of the BLAKES of Oran Castle.

(b) Patrick, was ancestor of the BLAKES of Ballyglunin (see BURKE's Landed Gentry), and of the BLAKES of Langham, Barts. (see BURKE's Peerage and Baronetage).

(c) Walter, who left issue,

1. Marcus, to whom lands in co. Mayo were granted by patent 27 March, 1619. He was Mayor of Galway, 1629, d. that year leaving issue, Walter, who d. 1632, leaving a son, Marcus oge Blake, ancestor of Blake of Ballinacfad.

2. Robert, of Ballynacourt (now Wallscourt), and of Ardfry, co. Galway (granted by patent 12 May, 1612), m. Katherine, dau. of Richard D'Arcy, and d. 1615 (will dated 3 July, 1612, proved 2 May, 1616), leaving, with other issue, an eldest son, Sir Richard Blake, Knt., M.P., of Ardfry, who m. Gyles, dau. of Alderman Andrew Kirwan, and d. 1663 (will dated 13 June, proved 23 July that year), leaving, with other issue, an eldest son, Robert, ancestor of Lord Wallscourt (see BURKE's Peerage and Baronetage), and Peter, of Corbally, ancestor of Sir Henry Arthur Blake, K.C.M.G. (see BURKE's Colonial Gentry).

d. Peter.

(2) Andrew.

(3) Thomas.

2. Walter, who was probably the person named as executor in the will dated 1420, of John oge Blake.

iv. Thomas (Niger), who left a son, Henry, mentioned as remainder man, in the will of his uncle, Henry Blake, senior, dated 1421.

v. William, mentioned in the will of his brother, John oge Blake, dated 1420.

The second son,

JOHN (OGE) BLAKE, Provost of Athenry, in 1394, obtained in 1391, a grant of lands in Athenry, from Philip, son of William Bermingham, of Athenry. He made his will 1420, leaving issue,

i. HENRY (junior), of whom presently.

ii. Walter, a legatee under the will of his uncle, Henry Blake, senior (vide ante). In 1435, he joined with his brother, Henry, and his consins in a grant of a sum of money in perpetuity to St. Nicholas Church, Galway. He d. 1452, and left issue,

John, a burgess of Athenry, in whose favour an order was made by Nicholas O'Muloghane and others, against Robert Stephen, concerning certain lands in the franchises of Athenry in 1452. He was also one of the parties to the deed of 1453 (vide ante).

The elder son,

HENRY BLAKE, junior, a burgess of Galway and of Athenry, mentioned in the deeds of award, dated 1424 and 1445. In 1435 he joined with his brother, Walter (oge), and his first cousins, William (fitz Geoffrey). Silly (dau. of Henry Blake, senior), and Henry (fitz Thomas Niger). in the grant to St. Nicholas Church, Galway; in 1438, he got the grant from his first cousin, Silly (also above referred to). He made his will 1450, in which he bequeathed certain houses and lands in the liberties of Athenry to his eldest son, and other lands to his four younger sons. He left issue,

i. JOHN, of whom presently.

ii. Nicholas, mentioned in the will of his father, and in an award, dated 1490, between him and his brother Richard. He had a son, John, mentioned in the old pedigree of 1640.

iii. Thomas, mentioned in his father's will, and d. without issue, as stated in the award of 1490.

iv. Walter, mentioned in his father's will, left a son, John, mentioned in a mayoralty grant 1505.

v. Richard, mentioned in his father's will, and in the award of 1490 between him and his brother Nicholas.

The eldest son,

JOHN BLAKE, burgess of Galway, agreed in 1445 (together with his father Henry) to refer to the arbitration of Willug Burke, Lord of Clanricarde, Sheriff of Connaught, and Master John, Friar General of the Friar preachers, all disputes between them concerning the division of the lands of Henry Blake, senior, deceased. He m. Juliana French, and made his will 14 March, 1468, in which he mentions his wife and children. He appointed John, son of William Blake, and Nicholas French, executors, and Peter Lynch and Robert French, overseers. He left issue,

i. VALENTINE (Vady'n), of whom presently.

ii. William, mentioned in his father's will, m. Katiline MacCurke, and made his will, 1488, appointing his brother Valentine the executor, and recommending to his care his son and daughters.

i. Eveline, mentioned in her father's will; m. Peter Lynch, the son of John Lynch, first mayor of Galway, in 1486.

ii. Anorine, mentioned in her father's will.

The elder son,

VALENTINE (VADYN) BLAKE, bailiff of Galway, 1496, during the mayoralty of Walter Lynch (fitz Robert), is mentioned in his father's will; m. Eveline, dau. of Geoffrey Lynch, and made his will, 12 July, 1499 (proved 26 July following), leaving issue,

i. John, living 1499, m. Eveline Skerret, and d. about 1530, leaving issue,

1. Nicholas, Mayor of Galway, 1555, a party to the award of 1542 (see p. 76). He m. 1st, Ennes, dau. of Marcus French, second son of Geoffrey French, but she d.s.p. He m. 2ndly, 1556, Cecilia, dau. of Walter Lynch, and made his will 18 Sept. 1564 (proved 28 Sept. 1568), having by her had issue, a son (and a dau. Eveline. m. John Lynch, fitz Richard, fitz Sander),

John, burgess of Galway. On 6 March, 1571, a decree was made on the complaint of this John Blake, described therein as "John Cadell, alias John Blake, fitz Nicholas," and of John Blake, fitz Richard (vide ante), therein described as "John Cadell, alias John Blake fitz Richard," by the Lord President and council of Connaught, by which it was decreed that the lands belonging to the Complainants in Kiltollagh, etc., should be held by them for ever, free from all charges to the Queen or any other charges. This decree was ratified and confirmed by a decree made 25 Oct. 1616, by the Lord Deputy and Commissioners appointed for settling the King's (JAMES I) compositions. He mortgaged, 27 June, 1579 (22 ELIZABETH), a moiety of the lands of Morughe and Doulis in the franchises of Galway, to Julia Browne, wife of John Blake fitz Richard (vide ante) and this mortgage was redeemed in 1593. He m. Cecila Skerret, and d. before 31 May, 1581, having by her, who survived him, had issue, a son, NICHOLAS, a minor, at his father's death, was one of the parties to the decree of 1616 : m. Juliana, dau. of Valentine French, and d. intestate, 28 Feb. 1621, leaving issue,

(a) John, Mayor of Galway, 1646. In 1640, he presented a remarkable petition to the King's Commissioners for the plantation of co. Galway, accompanied by a family pedigree and many ancient deeds upon which the Commissioners certified that he was the eldest lineal descendant of RICHARD CADDELL, called NIGER. In 1653, however, his ancestral estates were confiscated by the Cromwellian party, and he was allotted in compensation the lands of Mullaghmore, co. Galway. He m. Mary French, and d. 1680; he was ancestor of the BLAKES of Mullaghmore, co. Galway; of Renvyle, co. Galway; of Lehinch, co. d. John, first of Clooneen, co. Mayo, and afterwards of Muckiniss, co. Clare. He is mentioned in a deed of 20 May, 1647, whereby his father, Sir Valentine Blake, 3rd Bart., settled his estates in trustees on certain trusts. He was one of the executors of the will of his brother, Sir Thomas Blake, 4th Bart. On 20 Feb. 1680 (22 CHARLES II), he got a grant by patent of the Castle and Manor of Muckiniss, co. Clare, part of his father's estate, which had been confiscated by the Cromwellian Government. He m. (settlements dated 10 Jan. 1678) Mary, dau. of Isidore Lynch, of Drimcong, co. Galway. In 1688 he was one of the burgesses in the New Corporation of Galway under the Charter of King JAMES II. He was a Captain in Colonel Dominick Browne's regiment of infantry in the Irish Army of King JAMES II, and was killed in action at the siege of Athlone, in 1691. By his wife Mary Lynch, he left issue, two sons.

(a) Isidore, first of the town of Galway, and afterwards of Clooneen, co. Mayo. On 1 Aug. 1700, he and his brother Patrick (then both minors) by their uncle and guardian, Thomas Lynch, presented a petition to the Court of Claims, claiming remainders, respectively in the lands, in co. Clare, forfeited by their father, John Blake; and their claim was allowed on 3 March, 1701. He m. Mary, sister of Mark Blake, of Ballinafad, and d. April, 1763, leaving issue, three sons, Maurice, Patrick, and John; and three daus. (Catherine, who m. Frank Lynch; Bridget; and Anastas). His eldest lineal descendant is COLONEL MAURICE BLAKE (5th in descent) now (1896) of Towerhill (formerly Clooneen), co. Mayo, and of Carmore (formerly Ballinacree), co. Galway, which last mentioned property has been (almost uninterruptedly) in possession of various branches of the Blakes for six centuries and a quarter (1277-1896), (see BURKE's Landed Gentry, BLAKE of Towerhill).

(b) Patrick, mentioned in the decree of the Court of Claims dated 3 March, 1701.

(2) Walter, who, on 22 Feb. 1668 (20 CHARLES II), got a grant by patent of the lands of Menlo, in co. Galway, and of Clooneen, in co. Mayo, and other lands, all of which formed part of the estate of his deceased brother, Sir Valentine Blake, 3rd Bart., and which had been confiscated by the Cromwellian Government. He resided at Exning, Newmarket, Suffolk, and in 1669, executed a settlement settling the patent lands in Ireland upon his four nephews (the sons of his deceased brother, Sir Valentine) successively in tail male. His will was dated 21 Nov. 1672, and proved in London 28 April, 1674.

(3) Geoffrey, a priest in Holy Orders of the Church of Rome; he is mentioned in the will of his brother, Sir Valentine, 3rd Bart.

(4) John, also a priest of the Church of Rome; is mentioned in the will of his brother, Sir Valentine, 3rd Bart.

BRITTON.

Lineage.—The surname of BRITTON in the Latinised form "Brito" and the Norman equivalent of "Breton" occurs in the earliest records relating to the tenure of land in the western and some other counties of England.

There were at the time of the Domesday Survey several of this name who held many manors in the counties of Devon, Dorset, Gloucester and Somerset, as tenants in chief of the king.

The earliest record of the name in connection with the parish of Bitton, co. Gloucester, that has come to our notice is in the lay subsidy roll of 14 and 15 HENRY VIII, where the names of Thomas Breten and John Breten occur among the principal inhabitants of the tithing or hamlet of Oldland in that parish, who paid the subsidy.

From that date throughout the series of lay subsidy rolls and in the pedes finium for Gloucestershire the name frequently occurs, and from these and other evidences, including wills and entries in the parish registers, it is seen that this family has been resident at Bitton for nearly four centuries.

JOHN BRITTON, of Bitton, by his will dated 1 March, 1560, and proved at Gloucester 9 Oct. 1562, gave all his property to his son,

THOMAS BRITTON, of Bitton, who m. 1st, Agnes, dau. of William Horsington (referred to in her husband's will dated 28 April, 1573, and proved at Gloucester 20 April, 1574), having by her, who d. prior to 28 April, 1573, had issue,

CAMPBELL.

Lineage.—The family of Craignish is descended from Gillespie Campbell, of Lochow, the ancestor of the Argyll Campbells. Gillespie's third son, DUGALL CAMPBELL, was fostered by the Tossach Bain MacEachairn of Nether Craignish, who made over his estate to his foster child. The fourth in descent from Dugall, who thus became owner of Craignish, was,

MALCOLM MACDONILL CAMPBELL, of Craignish, who had issue, two sons and a dau.,

I. DUGALL, of whom presently.

II. MALCOLM, of whom presently, as heir male of the family.

I. Fingula.

The elder son,

DUGALL CAMPBELL, s. his father about 1290, subscribed the Ragman Roll, 1294, and d. 1350, leaving an only child, CHRISTIAN CAMPBELL, who on her marriage with Iver Campbell, of Asknish, disposed to her relative the knight of Lochow, therein designed "meo consanguineo Colino filis et heredi Gillespie Cambell domini de Lochow." the barony of Craignish. In this deed dated on Martinmas day, 1361, she is designed dau. and heir of Dugall "quondam domini de Craignish." There appears to have been excepted from the conveyance, the lands of Barravonlin, Lergachonie, Kilbride, Gellnog and Lagganlochan, which were held by her descendants for several generations. The male line of the family was continued by.

MALCOLM CAMPBELL, the second son of Malcolm Macdonill (before-mentioned). He m. Nalvis, the dau. of Maclachlan. The Papal Dispensation for the marriage is dated 1343. He was s. by his son, CROZIER.

Lineage.—The family of CROZIER was settled in Liddesdale and the Debateable Land from the 12th century to 1530. We find LOCUS CROYSER referred to in the rent roll of the Lordship circa 1376. On 21 Dec. 1414, letters of safe conduct were granted to WILLIAM CROYSER, of Scotland. Another WILLIAM CROYSER was Canon of Dunkeld during the reign of JAMES I.

WILLIAM CROZIER was Archdeacon of Teviotdale in 1427. During the early part of the 16th century the Croziers occupied lands in Upper Liddesdale and Teviotdale. The family lived at Riccarton where, near a burn of the same name, some remains of an ancient tower may still be seen. Huddishouse was also possessed by them. In the visitation of Durham of 1575 the pedigree of four generations is given, ending in George, aged 17, and the continuation of the pedigree down to 1615 may be found in the visitation of that year. From thence with the Armstrongs and the Nixons certain of the family migrated to the county Fermanagh.

JOHN CROZIER, of Crockneale, gent., and JOHN CROZIER, of Cavan, gent., were among the inhabitants of Fermanagh attainted by JAMES II in his Parliament held in Dublin in 1689. In Enniskillen Churchyard is a tombstone to John Crozier, who d. 24 Oct. 1717, in his 67th year. In later times JOHN CROZIER, of Drumbrochas, was High Sheriff of Fermanagh in 1765. John Crozier, of Magheradunbar, same county, had a dau. Barbara, m. 1745, Alexander Weir, of Hall Craig, Capt. Fermanagh Militia (grandson of Capt. Christopher Carleton, of Market Hill, same co. (see BURKE's Peerage and Baronetage, DORCHESTER, B.), and d. April, 1779, leaving a son Robert, of Hall Craig, J.P., D.L., High Sheriff, 1796, ancestor of that family (see BURKE's Landed Gentry).

JOHN CROZIER, of Gortra House, co. Fermanagh, who graduated B.A. at Trinity College, Dublin, in 1786, and is registered in the books of the University as John Crozier, son of John Crozier, armiger, of co. Fermanagh, m. Catherine, elder dau. of Thomas Rosborough, of Cloncarne and Clontivern, co. Fermanagh,* and d. Jan. 1814, having by her, who d. 21 Aug. 1845,

* The family of ROSBOROUGH (or Rosborough) has been for many generations settled in co. Fermanagh. Their Gortra property now belongs to the CROZIER family, and their Mullinagoan estate to the SWANZYS. In the Enniskillen Parish Register are many references to the early generations. A descendant of the family,

i. John, of Newtownbutler, co. Fermanagh, m. a dau. of Arthur Noble, of Drumrane, same co., son of John Noble, of Glassdrummond (see BURKE's Landed Gentry). By her, who was buried 17 April, 1769, he had no issue. He was buried 25 Feb. 1804.

FITZGERALD.

Lineage.—This family traces its descent from JOHN FITZGERALD, of Gurteens, ancestor of the FITZGERALDS, of Turlough (see BURKE's Landed Gentry). This John Fitzgerald is referred to in an inscription on a tomb in the chapel at the round tower of Turlough, as follows: "John Fitzgerald, of Gurteens, in the county of Waterford, where his ancestors and he enjoyed great possessions as well as in the county of Kilkenny, from the landing of Strongbow, in the reign of King Henry, the second, Ann. Dom. one thousand one hundred and eighty, to the time of his transplantation to Mohenae."

JOHN FITZGERALD, of Mohinny, made his will 23 July, 1717, which was proved 21 Jan. 1720, in which he desires to be buried at Torlagh. He also refers to a settlement bearing date 23 March, 1703, to which John Brown, of the Neale, Martin Blake, of Coolcon, and others were parties. In the will of 1717 he mentions his children as follows,

I. John, who d.v.p. before 1717, leaving a son, Nicholas, living that year.

GRAHAM.

Lineage.—According to the patent of arms in the Lyon Office, Edinburgh, this family is descended from "Robert Graham, proprietor of Tamraver in the year 1427, who was descended of Graham of Dundaff." Tamraver formed part of the lands of Auchencloich, situate in the parish of Monyaburt, afterwards Kilsyth, Stirlingshire, and was the property of the Graham family from very early times. Gilbert Graham, of Auchencloich, made a contract, 14 July, 1525, with Alexander, Lord Livingstone. Gilbert Graham d. shortly after as is shown by a retour dated 26 Oct. 1525. John Graham was infeft as heir of his late father, Gilbert, 26 July, 1548, and in the precept of Clare Coustat, separate mention is made of Tamraver, as part of Auchencloich. Robert Graham was infeft as heir of John Graham, 1 Sept. 1569, and d. in May, 1592 (Commissariat Books of Edinburgh). He was s. by his sister Christian, who m. Capt. Andre Bruce. But on 30 Sept. 1614, Robert Graham, "eldest lawful son of John Graham, of Auchencloich," was seized of the lands. In the records of the Presbytery of Glasgow, from 4 Aug. 1602, to 27 April, 1603, may be found the details of curious and interesting proceedings in which "Robert Grahame, of Auchincloche, Andrew Liddell, William Graham, in Tamraver, and Johnne Grahame," are brought to task concerning the unlawful burial of "Marion Brok," the mother of John Graham, in the Kirk of Monyaburt (now Kilsyth). They are all evidently nearly related, though the actual connexion is not stated. In 1614, there is a charter of alienation by which Robert Graham, of Auchencloich, disposed to his kinsman (probably his brother), William Graham, the lands in Tamraver, which he was then occupying. From this date the two properties remained separate. The ancestor of this family,

JOHN GRAHAM, of Tamraver, is the subject of the following interesting reference in the "Memoirs of James, Marquess of Montrose," by James Grant (1858): "Hearing of the near approach of his chief, John Grahame, of Tamraver, near Kilsyth, mustered and armed all his followers to join the King's banner, but on the 12th Aug. (three days before the battle) he was accidentally killed on a hill near his house, where a rough cairn yet marks the spot." The battle referred to was the battle of Kilsyth, which was fought 15 Aug. 1645. He m. 14 Jan. 1623, Margaret Grahame, and left a son,

JOHN GRAHAM, of Tamraver, bapt. 18 June, 1639, infeft as heir of his late father, 27 Sept. 1662, and left issue,

GRAHAM.

Lineage.—The representative of this family claims, as heir male of the illustrious and noble family of GRAHAM, Earls of Strathearn, Menteith and Airth, descended from the Royal family of Scotland, the ancient earldoms of that family, which have remained dormant since the death s.p. of William, 8th Earl of Menteith in 1694. William, 3rd Earl of Menteith, d. 7 April, 1544, leaving with other issue (see STUART), a fourth son,

GILBERT GRAHAM, of Gartavertane, who in 1572 resigned these lands to the Crown for a regrant in favour of William, his son and apparent heir. He also resigned, in 1576, the lands of Gartrenich, alias Auchmore, in the earldom of Menteith, to the fifth earl, apparently for the purpose of a regrant in favour of his younger son, into whose possession they passed. In a lease of the lands of Tulliallan, 1551, he calls himself "brother-germane to anc nobill and mychty lord, Johnne, Erll of Menteyth." Dying before 25 June, 1577, he left issue,

- I. William, of Gartavertane, who on that date was served heir to his uncle Robert, of Gartmore, and whose son, Robert, s. to that estate, and was father of Gilbert, last male of Gartmore, who was s. by his sister Agnes in said lands which she conveyed to her father-in-law, William, 1st Earl of Stirling in 1636.
- II. GILBERT, of whom presently.
- I. Marion, m. Alexander Alexander, of Menstry.
- II. Agnes, m. Jasper Graham, of Blaircessnock, from whom the Grahams, of Gartur (extinct since 1818). He was murdered by the Grahams, of Duchray, in 1618.

The second son,

GILBERT GRAHAM, in Rednock, in 1624 resigned the half lands of Gartrenich and lands of Auchmore, Inchie, Gartlonabeg and Gartlonamore, all in the earldom, to William, 7th Earl of Menteith. He or his elder son built the old house of Grahamstown, on the site of which a new house of the name stands on the Leitchtown estate. He m. Margaret, dau. of James Kinross, of Kippenross, and had issue,

- I. David, in Rednock (of Grahamstown), who s. his father, and d. before 11 Nov. 1631, leaving issue, two daus., 1. Menie, and 2. Margaret, m. — Campbell, of Auchterharley. They were not of age at the last named date, and under the tutelage of their uncle Patrick. David Graham and his brother, representing their father, who was then an elderly man, in 1622 were consenting parties along with the widow and sons of the deceased Jasper Graham, their uncle, to King JAMES VI, granting letters of remission to Jasper's murderers, viz., John Graham, of Polder, and his brothers Andrew, Walter and Thomas, sons of William Graham, of Duchray, Stirlingshire.
- II. PATRICK, of whom we treat.

The second son,

PATRICK GRAHAM, of Blairchoille (or Blairquhoille), and Grahamstown, the lands of which formed part of those afterwards known as Leitchtown, on the death of his brother became representative of this line of the Menteith family. He served along with his kinsman, Lord Kilpont (who was foully murdered by Stewart of Ardvoirlich, 6 Sept. 1644), in the Royalist army under their chief the great Marquis of Montrose, the most brilliant of all the Cavaliers. He m. 1629, Catherine, heiress of Baron Macgibbon, and had issue a son, GILBERT GRAHAM, of Leitchtown, who s. his father in those lands. In 1668 along with William, 8th Earl of Menteith and 2nd Earl of Airth, he was ordained an Elder in the episcopal parish of Port of Menteith. When this nobleman d. 12 Sept. 1694, without male issue, Gilbert Graham seems to have become male heir of the family and de jure 9th Earl of Menteith and 3rd Earl of Airth. The extraordinary state of the Earldoms at that time, the territories being separated from the titles, as the result of an unprecedented transaction, is sufficient to account for his hesitation to serve himself heir and to be retoured to empty honours. The political state of the country too, prevented anything being done. He m. Janet, dau. of James Smith, of Claish of Callander, by whom he had several sons. The names of the younger ones cannot with accuracy be traced in consequence of certain family papers being lost during the Rebellion of 1715. He d. 1704, when he was s. by his eldest son,

PATRICK GRAHAM, of Leitchtown, m. 1695, Margaret, dau. of William Napier, of Culnagrean, and formerly of Culcreuch, who was killed by the Camerons at Inverary, in the year of Argyll. Through this marriage the Leitchtown family became lineal representatives of Culcreuch, descended from Robert, second son of John Napier, of Merchiston. By her he had issue,

I. JAMES, his heir, of whom presently.

II. William, d. abroad, s.p.

III. John, d. in West Indies, leaving one son, John, Lieut. 79th Regt. of Foot, who d.s.p. 1794.

IV. Patrick, a merchant in London, d. unm. 1780.

I. Margaret, m. Robert Forrester, of Frew, and had issue.

II. Janet, m. Colin Innes, and had issue.

The eldest son,

JAMES GRAHAM, of Leitchtown, was bred a surgeon, and went early to the West Indies. On his return he m. 1734, Ann, dau. of the Rev. Thomas Leckie, minister of Kilmarnock, son of John Leckie, of Croy-Leckie and Balvie, co. Dumbarton, head of the ancient Leckie family, and sister of William Leckie, of Broich (now Arngomery), co. Stirling. The Keogh Family used the Coat of Arms here recorded before the 6th year of the Reign of Richard III, 1482 when the "Ireland King of Arms" was appointed. The Ulster King of Arms was established by King Edward VI under Royal Patent of England 1553.

This family was domiciled in Castle Troy Co Tipperary Limerick Ireland in 1598 as is shown in "The State of Ireland in 1598" by The Rev. Edmund Hogan, S.J.

This is the only Keogh family recorded in Ireland save one is William Keogh of Castle Donaghreffi. Co Galway, who was probably another member of the same family.

KEOGH.

Lineage.—The family of K'Eogh, or more properly MacK'Eogh, originally Mac Eochodh, claims descent from Fergus, King of Ulster, grandson of Roderick the Great, monarch of all Ireland, and Mea, his wife, dau. of Eochodh Feidlioeh, King of Connaught. A branch of the family were chiefs of Owney Tire, now the baronies of Onway and Arra in co. Tipperary and Owneybeg in Limerick. The head of this branch acquired by marriage Castle Troy, in 1420, and this became the chief abode of the family. Castle Troy was a strongly fortified place on the River Shannon, adjoining the MacK'Eogh's estate of Cloonclieve. These estates were eventually lost to the family by reason of their adherence to the Stuart cause. MAHONEY MACK'EOGH, of Cloonclieve, co. Limerick, was father of JOHN MACK'EOGH, of Castle Troy, co. Limerick, who was father of,

DENIS MACKEOGH, of Castle Troy, who m. Elizabeth, widow of Col. Fyre, and dau. of John Willington, of Castle Willington, co. Tipperary, and had issue, a son,
